Pakistan-Russia Defence Cooperation: Counterterrorism and Beyond

CAPEs PRESIDENT
DR. KHURAM IQBAL
WRITES FOR ISSI'S EDITED BOOK
"PAKISTAN-RUSSIA RELATIONS: A
COMPREHENSIVE HISTORICAL AND STRATEGIC ANALYSIS"

"Pakistan-Russia relations have evolved significantly beyond the Cold War-era camp politics. The U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan and the subsequent resurgence of transnational terrorist threats have incentivised the two to engage in counterterrorism cooperation. The emerging trajectory of Pakistan-Russia defence cooperation reflects a cautious but strategic recalibration—driven by converging interests in a multipolar and volatile regional order. While the partnership remains constrained by legacy inertia and geopolitical sensitivities, it has reached a point of strategic maturity where further expansion is both feasible and desirable."

"Russia's strategic ambitions to reach South Asia highlight its pursuit of influence across the Eurasian region. Its geopolitical manoeuvring, combined with the complexities caused by the Ukraine crisis, has led Russia to rethink its strategies and strengthen ties with regional players, while renewing focus on access to warm water ports. Russia aims for a balanced relationship that promotes regional stability despite the fluctuating China-US rift. Its dedication to a multipolar world is clearly demonstrated through major initiatives for regional connectivity"

The Political Economy of Revolution: Examining the Transition From Marxist-Leninist Economies to Russian State Capitalism

DIRECTOR EURASIA CHAPTER
DR GUL.I.AYESHA BHATTI,
WRITES FOR JOURNAL OF EURASIAN
STUDIES

<https://journals.sagepub.com/doi/10.1177/18793665251401934>

"The evolution of Russia's economic policies from Lenin to Putin reflects an effort to respond to internal stagnation and shifting geopolitical pressures. The post-Soviet period brought its own contradictions. Present-day Russia, particularly in the context of protracted war in Ukraine, is navigating a complex terrain where economic governance must reconcile war-driven expenditures, sanctions, and resource nationalism."
